August 13.

The battle of Talavera has afforded a fresh instance that whatever be the superiority of the French tactics and impetuosity over the continental armies of Europe, there is one nation to which even the veterans of France must, however painful to their vanity, concede the palm of superiority—that Britain is that nation, it were almost superfluous to add. The numerous population over which Napoleon holds despotic sway, and whose efficient strength he draws forth by the iron measure conscription, with as little ceremony, or difficulty, as he would select the oaks of the forest for his navy—has enabled the French armies to attack with a force so numerically powerful, as in most cases to insure success. Of the numbers actually engaged on both sides at this memorable battle we have not any accurate account, but from all that can be collected, the French army, headed by king Joseph, the duke of Bellund (marshal Victor) marshal Jourdan, and gen. Sebastian, exceeded considerably 40,000 men—long-trying soldiers, who had served in the campaigns of Germany and Poland. The British army, against which the efforts of the French were exclusively directed, did not greatly exceed twenty thousand; the Spaniards under Cuesta were present and some few battalions were engaged, but by far the most considerable portion were so placed as not to have fired a shot; the service however which they rendered was, perhaps, not less important than if they had been actively engaged, for they protected the right flank of the British army, which but for the position maintained by the Spaniards, had inevitably been turned by the French; whose superiority of numbers would unquestionably enable them to perform their manœuvre.

Talavera de la Reyna, where the battle was fought, is in new Castile, in the province of Toledo and stands on the north side of the Tagus, a little below the junction of the river. It will be remembered, that the last dispatch of sir A. Wellesley (which appeared in the Gazette of Friday) was dated the 24th July. In that he states, that the enemy had retired at about one in the morning to Santa Olalla, and thence towards Tarrijos, I conclude to form a junction with the corps under gen. Sebastian.

In that conclusion he was correct and the enemy between the 24th and 26th had effected a junction of all his forces in that part of Spain. The advanced guard of gen. Cuesta had followed the enemy, was attacked by the enemy's forces, was directed to fall back, and he "contented" to take up a position of conjunction with the British army near to Talavera, there to wait the attack which it was obvious the enemy meditated. Sir Robert Wilson was stationed with his corps at Escalana, which is considerably higher up the Alberche, in a direct line between Talavera and Madrid, and consequently had no share in the battle. The corps of Venegas was also at a distance. At two o'clock in the morning of the 27th the French began the attack, and the British advanced corps retreated, in good order upon the main body, "but with some loss." It was not until the dusk of the evening that the principal attack was made when the enemy's cavalry attempted to penetrate the Spanish infantry on the right, in which he was repulsed. During the night the enemy gained possession of a height, from which he was driven by major gen. Hill. The attack was repeated in the night, and the enemy again repulsed, and repeated in the morning, when he was finally driven back by major gen. Hill's division. Our loss at that point was considerable. At noon on the 21st a general attack was made upon our army, which commenced by an attempt to gain the same height that had been so repeatedly contested—but a charge of the British cavalry "prevented the execution of that part of the enemy's plan." The attack of the enemy was then extended to our whole line! but being finally repulsed, he commenced his retreat across the Alberche, which "was conducted in the most regular order, and was effected during the night."

SEVILLE, August 14.

GENERAL VENEGAS'S DISPATCH,
Most Excellent Sir,

This morning at half past five, the army under my command was attacked by the enemy in Almonacid, and at seven a very brisk fire of both artillery and musketry had extended throughout the whole of the line. The number of the assailants was very considerable, and we have no doubt but it exceeded 25,000 men. Our troops maintained a most honorable fight for nine hours together, during 5 of which the fire was tremendous indeed; but the enemy, having made themselves masters of a height which formed our left, obtained an advantage in point of position, and were on the point of turning us, which circumstance induced me to resolve upon a retreat, previously forming, to cover it, the second division which had hitherto suffered least. The national honor has been maintained, but impaired. Blood has been shed, indeed, and we have lost excellent officers; but I conceive that the enemy's own loss amounts to full 8,000 men. I cannot, at present, send the particulars to your excellency, but I will do so whenever I have time.

Camp-marshal D. Ramon de Carvajal set out post from Tembleque for la Carolina, where he will assume the command, and collect as many troops and sharpshooters as possible, until I reach the Sierra myself with the army. May God, &c.

P. VENEGAS.

To H. E. Don Antonio Cornelli.

(Gov. Gazette.)

[The next number contains at full length the same general's dispatch, relative to the unsuccessful attack made on the 5th by the French upon his army at Aranjuez, which was noticed in last Saturday's Chronicle. Gen. V. states, that, upon being informed by gen. Cuesta, that the British army had marched out in the morning of the 2d, and that he intended to follow it, with his own, in the evening of the same day, to make head against Soult, who was advancing on the side of Placencia, he foresaw, that the troops under his command would be attacked as soon as intelligence of this movement should reach Joseph and Victor, who (in consequence of their defeat at Talavera) had fallen back, the former upon Illasca with 16,000 men, and the latter upon Maqueda, with 10,000. And accordingly, general V. made the necessary dispositions to repulse the enemy, and, as proved by the event, in so able and judicious a manner, that the latter, meeting every where with an unconquerable resistance, desisted from the attempt and withdrew with a loss of 300 killed, and 1000 wounded, that of the Spaniards being far less important, as it is estimated at 200 in all.

The despatch concludes with bestowing the highest encomiums upon all the corps engaged, as well as upon their officers; and general Venegas having particularly recommended to the board, brigadier D. Pedro Augustin Giron who commanded in Aranjuez, and upon whom had, therefore devolved the task of carrying the plan of defence into execution, the brigadier has been immediately promoted to the rank of camp-marshal.]

GERONA, July 24.

The night before last the enemy renewed their attacks upon Monjuich. The mountain, as well as the town, kept up, for two hours and a half, an incessant fire of musketry and artillery which greatly injured the enemy's works. The latter, enraged at the failure of their attempts, repeated them again and again, but to as little purpose. We cannot sufficiently admire the sang froid of the garrison of the castle, who under the galling fire of the enemy, loudly cried out to them: Come Cavachos, and lend your assistance; Lechils palace has caught fire.

July 25.

The besiegers are sparing of their shells, but not of their grenades or cannon-shot of which they send us plenty. From their not being minded as they ought to be, several lives are lost which might be laid down with more advantage to the country. Its defenders make a parade of their intrepidity which we wish were less daring. However it be, there is nothing to apprehend with such a garrison, which in every instance, exceeds our hopes, and commands our admiration. Wherever it presents itself, it forms a rampart more impenetrable than that which incloses the town. Out of such exploits would deserve our attention; here they succeed each other so rapidly, that they take it up but for one moment. It will be most truly said of Gerona that it has been a school of valor, by the patterns which there have been displayed and formed with so much éclat.

NOTE.

Official accounts have been subsequently received, including the daily reports of the defence of that fortress, down to the 5th instant, when it continued to make an equally glorious resistance.

SEVILLE, Aug. 17.
The forces which Soult has brought to the Tagus do not merely consist of the division under his orders, but include the whole of the French troops in Castile. This has occasioned the retrograde movement of our armies. They extended from Mesa de Ibor as far as Almaraz, and will shortly be reinforced by 9,000 English who are already in Alcantara, and further, we are positively told by Beresford's division which appears to have reached Ciudad Rodrigo, to the number of 16,000 men. The united armies of Asturias and Galicia must, by this time, have penetrated into Castile. A French division has marched from the Tagus to Placentia, undoubtedly to observe the armies which may fall upon the rear of their troops. The army of the centre has fought at Almonacid with great valor. Its retreat has been a military one, unattended with the fatal dispersion which we have lamented upon other occasions. On the 12th, its headquarters were in Argamasilla. Venegas intended to send part of his troops to the Sierra, and to advance with the remainder of the army, which is a proof that the French are not pursuing him. If it be so, we may hope, that la Mancha will not be afflicted again with the continuance of the French troops.

LONDON, August 17.
SURRENDER OF FLUSHING.
We have the pleasure to announce the surrender of Flushing the day before yesterday. The welcome intelligence was brought by a merchantman, which had been sent with a present to the commander in chief and arrived at Campvere on Monday afternoon, when seven 74's were just getting under weigh to proceed to the bombardment. She quitted Campvere on Tuesday afternoon but before she sailed an express had reached that place, stating that Flushing had surrendered on Tuesday at 6 o'clock, A. M. after a tremendous firing, which is said to have laid all the fortifications fronting the sea completely level with the ground. The number of inhabitants and soldiers that perished in the bombardment was very great indeed.

Dutch Decree of July 29.
Louis Napoleon, &c. &c. "Until further orders, our decree of 30th of June, No. 1, respecting the admission of American vessels into the harbors of this kingdom, shall be repealed, and every thing relating thereto be placed on the same footing as it was before the issuing of the said decree, so that no other vessels than those conforming strictly to the restrictions contained in our former decrees shall be admitted. Those which shall not so conform, shall be warned off."

"The director of the customs hereby orders all custom house officers, stationed in the harbors and ports of this kingdom, to act according to the above decree, and to inform all captains of American vessels, which may hereafter arrive, of the contents of the same; as also of the decrees by which the import of goods is permitted. And also to send the papers of those, which from the nature of their cargoes, conceive the same admissible, with the addition of the usual declaration of the director of the customs, and to wait for further orders concerning the same."

The above decree, when issued was accompanied with a copy of that of the 30th of June, in which the articles allowed to be imported from America, are specifically enumerated. It was given in the Courier of the 8th ult.

August 18.
The official account of the surrender of Flushing had not arrived when our paper went to press. The bombardment of Flushing lasted from Sunday afternoon till Tuesday morning. On Monday the large ships went in, and began bombarding it on the sea side with tremendous effect. The resistance was rendered more obstinate, on account of part of the garrison being Irish, who dreaded falling into the hands of the government against whom they were fighting. The first terms proposed by gen. Monnet are said to have contained some stipulations in their favor, which were instantly and indignantly rejected by the earl of Chatham. The town then held out some time longer, but all hopes of succor being at an end, and the fortifications tumbling fast about their ears, the garrison were reduced to the necessity of an unconditional surrender. The terms were signed early on Tuesday morning, and we were to take possession of the place on Tuesday evening.

August 19.
We received at a late hour this morning, Paris papers to the 2d, Hamburg to the 11th, Berlin, Frankfort, and other papers to the 4th—the following are their contents. There is no fresh bulletin in them; nor does it appear that the preliminaries had been signed so late as the 28th of last month; though reports prevailed at Hamburg on the 9th and tenth, that they were signed on the 27th. We have, however, the Vienna papers before us of the 29th, which are totally silent upon the subject.

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS.
The British brig Tom Barry, capt. McDougall, arrived at New York on Friday last in the short passage of 36 days from Scotland. The editors of the New York Gazette have received London and Glasgow papers to the 27th of August. These papers contain the important information that Flushing, after being nearly destroyed by a bombardment, had surrendered to the British forces under Lord Chatham. The garrison, consisting of 4379 officers and men, were to be sent to England. The English expedition afterwards went up to attack Antwerp, and to destroy the French fleet at that place. Accounts have been received in England thro' a variety of channels, that the armistice was at an end, and that hostilities had commenced between France and Austria—though an article from Paris of the date of 17th Aug. states that peace between Austria and France was signed on the 10th. The articles respecting Mr. Armstrong's arrival at Amsterdam, and the report of a new decree against the Americans, does not look as if our differences would soon be settled with France. The papers also contain a new decree issued by the king of Holland. The report of an English expedition having taken Archangel is premature. London Gazette Extraordinary, Sunday, August 20.
DOWNING STREET, Aug. 19.
A despatch, of which the following is a copy, was this day received at the office of viscount Castlereagh, one of his majesty's principal secretaries of state, from lieutenant, the earl of Chatham, K. G. dated Headquarters, Middleburgh, Aug. 1. MY LORD,
I have the honor of acquainting your lordship, that, on the 13th inst. the batteries before Flushing being completed (and the frigates, bombs, and gun-vessels, having at the same time taken their stations) a fire was opened at about half past 1, P. M. from 52 pieces of heavy ordnance, which was vigorously returned by the enemy. An additional battery of six 24 pounders was completed the same night, and the whole continued to play upon the town, with little or no intermission, till late on the following day. On the morning of the 14th inst. about ten o'clock, the line of battle ships at anchor in the Danube passage, led by rear-admiral sir Richard Strachan, got under weigh, and, ranging up along the sea line of defence, kept as they passed a most tremendous cannonade on the town for several hours, with the greatest gallantry and effect. About 4 in the afternoon, perceiving that the fire of the enemy had entirely ceased, and the town presenting a most awful scene of destruction, being on fire in almost every quarter, I directed lieutenant, gen. sir Eyre Coote to send in to summon the place; general Monnet returned for answer, that he would reply to the summons as soon as he had consulted a council of war; an hour had been allowed him for the purpose, but a considerable time beyond it having elapsed, without any answer being received, hostilities were ordered to recommence with the utmost vigor, and about 11 o'clock at night, one of the enemy's batteries, advanced upon the Sea Dyke, in front of lieutenant, gen. Fraser's position, was most gallantly carried at the point of the bayonet, by detachments from the 36th, 71st, and light battalions of the king's German legion, under lieutenant, col. Park, opposed to great superiority of numbers: they took 40 prisoners, and killed & wounded a great many of the enemy. I must not omit to mention, that on the preceding evening, an entrenchment, in front of maj. gen. Graham's position, was also forced in a manner equally undaunted, by the 14th regiment and detachments of the king's German legion, under lieutenant, col. Nicholls, who drove the enemy from it, and made a lodgment within muskets shot of the walls of the town, taking one gun and 30 prisoners. About two in the morning, the enemy demanded a suspension of arms for 48 hours which was refused, and only two hours granted, when he agreed to surrender according to the summons sent in, on the basis of the garrison becoming prisoners of war. I have now the satisfaction of acquainting your lordship, that these preliminaries being acceded to, as soon as the admiral landed in the morning, col. Long, adjutant gen. and capt. Cockburn, of the royal navy, were appointed to negotiate the further articles of capitulation, which I have now the honor to enclose. They were ratified about 3 this morning, when detachments of the royals on the right, and of his majesty's 81st regiment on the left took possession of the gates of the town. The garrison will march out to-morrow, and will be embarked as speedily as possible. I may now congratulate your lordship on the fall of a place so indispensably necessary to our future operations, as so large a proportion of our force being required to carry on the siege with that degree of vigor and dispatch which the means of defence the enemy possessed, and put early his powers of inundation (which was rapidly spreading to an alarming extent) rendered absolutely necessary. Having hoped, had circumstances permitted, to have proceeded up the river at an earlier period, I had committed to lieutenant, gen. sir Eyre Coote the direction of the details of the siege, and of the operations before Flushing, and I cannot sufficiently express my sense of the unremitting zeal and exertion with which he has conducted the arduous service entrusted to him, in which he was ably assisted by lieutenant, col. Walsh and Offerey, attached to him as assistants in the adjutant and quarter-master-general's department. I have every reason to be satisfied with the judicious manner in which the general officers have directed the several operations as well as with the spirit and intelligence manifested by the commanding officers of corps and the zeal and ardor of all ranks of officers. It is with great pleasure I can report the uniform good conduct of the troops, who have not only on all occasions shewn the greatest intrepidity in presence of the enemy, but have sustained with great pleasure and cheerfulness, the laborious duties they have had to perform. The active and persevering exertions of the corps of royal engineers have been conducted with much skill and judgment by colonel Pyres, aided by lieutenant, col. D'Arcey, and it is impossible for me to do sufficient justice to the distinguished conduct of the officers and men of the royal artillery, under the able direction and animating example of brig. gen. McL. O. The seamen, whose labors had already been so useful to the army, sought their reward in a further opportunity of distinguishing themselves, and one of the batteries was accordingly entrusted to them, and with they served with admirable vigor and effect. I must beg leave to express my strong sense of the constant and cordial co-operation of the navy on all occasions, and my warmest acknowledgments are particularly due to Captain Cockburn, of the Belleisle, commanding the flotilla, and to Capt. Richardson, of the Caesar, commanding the brigade of seamen landed from the army. I have the honor to enclose a return of the garrison of Flushing, in addition to which I have learned, that besides the number killed, which were considerable, upwards of one thousand wounded men were transported to Cadland, previous to the complete investment of the town. I also subjoin a statement of deserters and prisoners, exclusive of the garrison of Flushing. This despatch will be delivered to your lordship by my first aid-de camp, major Bradford, who is fully qualified to give your lordship every further information, and whom I beg leave earnestly to recommend to his majesty's pretensions. I have the honor to be, &c. (Signed) CHATHAM.

FOR SALE, The following VALUABLE PROPERTY. A TRACT OF LAND.

CONTAINING 1600 acres, more or less, called and known by the name of Buffalo Marsh, lying within 12 miles of Winchester, in the county of Frederick, in the state of Virginia. On about 960 acres of this tract there are several very well improved farms tenanted for life or lives, the balance free of all incumbrance, including an excellent merchant mill built with stone, the whole yielding an annual rent of about 800 dollars. Much of this tract is very fertile, well watered, and all abundance of timber. It is generally rolling, but part of it is hilly and stoney, chiefly of lime stone. It will be laid off to suit purchasers.

Another tract, called Hollis's Marsh, lying in the county of Westmoreland containing about 2800 acres, bordering on the river Potomac, adjoining the Stratford estate, and the late residence of Richard Lee, esq. of Chantilly. On the estate are a number of farms and tenants at will. Part of this land is extremely fertile, and all of it as good as the lands generally are in that part of the country. The Marsh affords excellent range for stock, and is happily situated for fish and fowls of which that river abounds, and must be a desirable estate to any person who may choose to reside in that part of the country. It will however be laid off to suit purchasers. The above lands are held by deeds of purchase duly recorded in the general court.

Another tract containing 992 acres, lying in the county of Berkeley, adjoining the residence of Rayleigh Colston, esq. of which about 660 acres is leased for the balance of the life of an aged man, the rest tenanted at will. This land is situated in what is called the big bend of Potomac, and borders on it. In point of fertility it is esteemed inferior to none in that part of the state and is held by deed from James Marshall, esq.

Seven other tracts containing 1000 acres each, adjoining each other in the county of Mason, within a few miles of the Ohio, between the two Kanawha's on the waters of Sandy Creek, which runs through a considerable part of it. It adjoins the lands of general Washington, and the late Benjamin Harrison, jun. esq. A large portion of it is rich bottom and the upland of very good quality. It is held under the original patent by deeds duly recorded in the general court.

Five full & complete Shares in the Dismal Swamp Company.

Upwards of 15,000 acres of Lands, being very old military rights, lying in the states of Ohio, Kentucky and the Indiana territory, chiefly patented in my own name and ready to be shewn.

A more particular description of the foregoing property may be seen by applying to Mr. Thomas Taylor, of Richmond, who is authorized to make contracts, or to myself in Alexandria. The titles are all undoubted, and the terms proposed are, one fourth in cash at the time of conveyance, the balance in three instalments, the last two to be on interest from the date. Attention to Fortune Hunters,
And Possession will be given immediately—any day.

I WISH to sell, the unexpired lease of 8 years, from the 10th day of December next, in the elegant and commodious HOTEL I now occupy in Alexandria. This establishment is justly celebrated as affording the best accommodations on the continent, and to a man of attention and abilities in the line of his profession, cannot fail to yield a handsome fortune. The proximity of this property to the seat of government, being but about six miles from the capitol, over the Potomac Bridge, the growing importance of Alexandria, and the increase of the business of the house since the residence of the present occupant, all conspire to prove, that there is not a more eligible situation in the United States.

Attached to the tavern, is a well conducted coffee house, supported by a respectable subscription.

Together with an insurance office. There are at present twenty four yearly boarders of the first respectability, in the hotel.

The whole house is elegantly furnished, and to a person who takes the lease, the greater part of the furniture will be sold on the most reasonable terms.

VALUABLE LAND FOR SALE.

Distant 23 miles from Georgetown and Alexandria, 19 miles from Occoquan Mills, and a half of the Little River Turnpike Road. It consists of Five and Twenty Hundred acres, lying on the waters of Bull and Little Roanoke, runs in the counties of Fairfax and Prince William. The quality of this land is excellent, and, to a grazier especially, would be a source of great emolument, from the quantity of low grounds: of which there is not less than five hundred acres, ready, from the strength of the soil, to be sowed in Timothy. This land is decidedly benefited by the plaster of Paris. On it is a very good site for a mill, the stream being one of the most constant in that part of the country. There are about 800 acres in wood, heavily timbered. The improvements are, a dwelling house newly fitted up, consisting of two rooms below stairs, with a store room and two convenient closets, three lodging rooms above stairs, an excellent cellar, a kitchen, corn house, meat house and stables. Likewise the overseer's house, one in each county, with other necessary houses or negroes, &c.

Between 2 and 300 acres in addition, for sale, in Prince William county, on Bull Run near its conflux with Occoquan. This land lies about 10 or 11 miles from the Occoquan mills, and has nearly one third in woods—its quality is equal to any in its immediate neighborhood.

Persons disposed to purchase may be supplied on the first named tract with a large stock of horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, farming utensils. The subscriber willing to emigrate southwardly will dispose of the above mentioned property on the most reasonable terms.

Information respecting the property may be had by application to the honorable Judge Washington of Mount Vernon, H. S. Turner, Esquire, of Jefferson county, or in the absence of the subscriber to Bernard Hoos, jun. Esq. living near the premises.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale the House on Fairfax-street, in Alexandria, now occupied by Mrs. S. Nickolls. The assessors say this property is worth four thousand two hundred dollars, and have, year after year, assessed it at this sum; but the subscriber now offers it for sale at the half of the assessed value.

He also offers for sale, The vacant Lots on Fairfax and Franklin-streets. Assessors have said that these Lots are worth three thousand two hundred dollars per acre, and have assessed them at that rate; but the subscriber will take less than the half of that sum per acre.

He would gladly sell all his property on the Mall—his Houses on King-street, near Royal street—his Houses on the same street near Washington-street—his ground-rents on any other property he has in Alexandria on a credit of 6, 12, and 18 months.—Apply to Cuthbert Powell or
